

From: John Wagenseil
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 1/24/02 3:17pm
Subject: Re: Microsoft Settlement

Dear Sirs,

Now AOL is going to sue Microsoft. Is it endless? What a joke.

All the lawsuits should be dismissed as frivolous.

I wonder if any of the States suing Microsoft have ever had an Anti-Trust suit against anybody before.

Hey let's all get together and sue the rich guys, they can afford it. Why, McDonalds can afford hundreds of thousands because the coffee was too hot, so Bill can afford to hand out some money.

AOL has a bigger market share of Internet action than Microsoft, how can they say Microsoft is being unfair.

Everybody wants to beat Bill, to get his Billions, and nobody worries what happens to the consumer.

My daughter decided to use AOL Messenger a couple of years ago because her friends did, and AOL Messenger would not talk to her Microsoft E-mail. But they could talk to her!!!! Bill's product was compatible!.

The whole problem is compatibility. Nobody wants to be compatible except Bill.

Leave Bill alone.

Regards,
Jww